

Precipitation

Precipitation occurs when so much water has condensed that the air cannot hold it anymore. The clouds get heavy and water falls back to the earth in the form of rain, hail or snow.

If you continue the condensation experiment long enough, so much water will condense on the book that it won't be able to hold it all. At that point, water will start dripping down from the book and you've created precipitation!

Information on this page used with permission.

Leann and Tasha. Kids Zone. <http://www.kidzone.ws/water/index.html> 2005